Footnotes | View Glossary Of Terms

CHANCHITO was unhurried at the rear down the backstretch, lagged behind taking the short way around the turn, hugged the rail gathering more speed in upper stretch and was full of run shifting outside off the leader three wide at the eighth pole for clear run, did not switch leads through the stretch run but it did not matter because he still drove by with authority in deep stretch for the late finishing win. MASTER STEAL had a slim lead three deep on the outside, duled three wide outside a couple of runners for the top spot around the oval, inched away slightly at the quarter pole, was holding up top running just off the fence in mid-stretch but could not fend off the overpowering late burst by the winner outside in the final sixteenth of a mile. UP N THE ANTE had a stalking trip early on ahead of only one runner which was to be the eventual winner, rallied three wide starting to uncork a run in midturn circling rivals, swung out widest in the six path closing in, the rider was having difficulty keeping a straight path when drifting inwards even through under left handed encouragement on the wrong lead midway down the stretch, finally figured things out switching leads at the sixteenth pole and had a strong late charge but it was just too late. ATERYA vied between runners in the early going, chased the pacesetter inside through the turn, fought back stubbornly inside in upper stretch but had little left late and faded in the final furlong to hold for a minor share. JOLTED had a good set-up watching the lead trio fight for the lead down the backside, was asked for more but could not keep up to the leaders at the three furlong pole, angled to the five path at the head of the lane but could not get involved. SCREEN SCENE pressed the pace on the rail early on, was the first of the battling trio up top to give way on the fence midway around the bend and shifted to the four-path faltering in upper stretch.
